Midweek Organic Growing Adventures in the City Centre

Every first Thursday of the month until December

A perfect team building exercise

For the Love of Bees has an Organic/Biology First Teaching HUB within 10 minutes of your office door where we are set up to teach you the skills to help you in your own garden this summer.

If you have ever wanted to get Green Fingers, or you are intrigued at how you could give up chemical supports and become truly organic... then we would love you to come and use our resources and let us teach you.

Every first Thursday we can be found at 42 Wellesley Street West at Griffith's Gardens. Book us for a 45 minute-1 hour session for between 5-15 people. Come and discover how exciting it is to become a biological gardener and a bees best friend.

Anna Dadson is a passionate grower with many years of experience in permaculture design, ecological restoration and nursery work.

Your Teachers

Vision Holder of the For the Love of Bees and Biodynamic gardener, Sarah Smuts-Kennedy has been growing her own food at Maunga Kereru for the past 7 years.

Both are well equipped to impart practical advice and skills that will inspire you into action.
